USE REGAL PLANTS FOR GARDEN PICTURES

REGAL plants grow a little taller, bloom a little longer, flower a little more profusely. We must give much of the credit for them to the hardiness they get from the soil and sunshine of our little Vermont Valley, though special care in selection for propagation, proper attention to soil conditions, cultivation, and fertilization adds much to their superiority.

Garden pictures like this one come a little easier for the flower-lover who uses plants bred to be truly REGAL, the kings and queens of any garden.

TWO REGAL PERENNIAL COLLECTIONS OF RARE VALUE

Fall is the ideal time to plant perennials. In late August or early September, the Spring- and Summer-blooming plants are making root-growth for next year's flowering. These two selections are true "pictures," chosen for their range of color, height, and form. Bought singly, they would be fifty per cent more expensive. No substitutions, please, at these special prices.

REGAL Plants and Bulbs

F. H. HORSFORD

CHARLOTTE · VERMONT

1935 Autumn Supplement

Get Full Bloom a Whole Year Sooner—

Save from 25 to 50 Per Cent—with Fall Planting

The plants listed in this folder are the very same ones we will be shipping next Spring (with the exception of the Peonies and Spring bulbs, which must be planted now). In your garden through the Fall and over the Winter, they can be storing up energy, spreading out their roots, getting firmly established, ready to pay you extra dividends of bloom and fragrance as a result.

Summer and Fall are ideal for planting, too, because you can plan for your garden with it spread out before you in full growth. There's no question of "remembering" what you need—you can actually see the holes that need filling or the pictures that need completing.

FALL PRICES ARE LOWER

We offer many collections in the Fall at prices that can save many dollars in building or maintaining your garden. It is not simply that digging the plants is easier and better. Everything about Fall shipping saves us money.

The season is longer, we are not so rushed. It is actually easier to ship. Our stock is usually complete on all varieties. Frequently we have a surplus of some varieties that we offer at extra-special savings. (See the prices on our Peony Collections this year.)

We reflect all those savings in the prices in this list. And this year we believe prices are lower for our plants and bulbs than we will be able to make them for many years to come.

ALL PRICES ARE NET

Peonies, and all Collections must be shipped Express Collect. On all other plants or bulbs we will prepay postage or Express, as you prefer, if 10 per cent is added to the price of the plants and bulbs in your order. Add 20 per cent for points West of the Mississippi. This covers both shipping cost and special packing. If no shipping method is specified, we will ship Express Collect.

Thirty-Two IRIS Selected for Your Garden

There are literally thousands of Iris varieties grown today. Many of them vary so slightly that none but the veriest professional can distinguish between them. We cannot grow them all, and we make no pretense of attempting to grow more than a truly representative list of types.

This is our selection of the best of each color pattern. Many of them may be purchased at a considerable saving in a collection.

These Hardy Plants and Bulbs Will Bring You the Joy of Their Color and Fragrance Next Spring

REGAL PEONIES Ready to Grow and Bloom for You Next June

Somehow the idea has gaincd acceptance that Peonies requirc a lot of special care, a thought that always amazes us when we hear it. True, they don't like fresh manurc around their roots, and they are particular about how deep you plant them, but beyond that their smash of bloom is ready for anyone willing to give them an ordinary Winter "blanket," and their fair share of fertilizer.

A lot of the trouble probably comes from the use of tiny divisions instead of full-grown plants (at least a year old), such as our Regal Peonies are. And, certainly, no other plant can give such masses of brilliant green and such smashes of whites, pinks, and reds to repay you for thc comparatively little care they require. Full, yet simple instructions accompany every shipment of Regal Peonies.

TYPES OF PEONIES

While the "rose" type Peony is most commonly known to the majority of us, it is easy to see the possibilities in a border planting which makes use of occasional variations of shape as well as color. For example, a dark red single like The Moor provides emphasis by both shape and color.

Oriental Poppies

The Oriental Poppies form a striking set of perennial plants. Their immense blooms and their striking colors make a wonderful display. The following varieties can be supplied in field-grown plants dormant in August and September. They require almost no care, are completely hardy, and usually "steal the show" for two weeks in June.

Plant These Bulbs Now for Garden Sunshine Early Next Spring

We list these bulbs as a service to our customers. While none of them are Horsford grown, nor do we give them the stamp of "Regal" quality, we have been buying them from some of the same growers for over forty years. If repeat orders are any indication, our customers seem to prefer them. Remember the Tulips and Hyacinths you saw and wanted last Spring? We hope we've picked the right varieties for you.

We're pretty proud of the Lilies we grow, so proud that you might think we were over-enthusiastic if we wrote of them as we really think. We'll leave it to you to tell us how much you enjoy them.

Most of our Lilies may be shipped in September. Auratum, Speciosum, Henryi, and the beautiful Sulphureum do not ripen until late September or early October. All Lily orders are accompanied by complete cultural directions, telling just how to plant, fertilize, and the special little stunts that help to make extra-large blooms in profusion.

LILIUM SPECIOSUM ALBUM

Our Greatest Favorites—LILIES and DELPHINIUM

There is something about the whole Lily family, with its vivid colorings and its creamy whites, that no other group of flowers can quite equal. They look well in occasional masses, or as part of garden groups with other plants that best show them off.

Our Regal bulbs are grown to bloom strongly and profusely. They may be planted in the Spring, of course, but for bloom next year they should be planted this Fall. Planted together as a collection, or separated by varieties, they make a handsome garden picture.

For Your REGAL Garden

Add Regal Lupines and Regal Delphiniums to the Regal Lily (Lilium regale)—there is a garden picture!

The Lilies contribute their white, soft yellow, and creamy pink. Delphiniums add their giant spikes of mostly double flowers from the pink shades through to dark blue. And the Lupines bring their varied shades, even to yellows, bronzes, and the bicolors.
